In order to support our nonprofit work promoting cage-free policies for corporations and educating the public, it would be useful to know where the data came from and how the final numbers that appeared in the table were calculated. We are seeking information on where the numbers included in the analyses came from and how the data was gathered to create this report. It would be extremely helpful to have the data that supported the creation of this report for our own research purposes. If you could provide the sources of this data and the method of calculation, that would be sincerely appreciated.

2024-AMS-00045-F	11/13/2023	Hoffman, Emily	The attached PDF from August 2023 contains data on egg-laying hens, including caged and cage-free hens. The report includes estimates of table egg production in states with cage-free legislation and numbers on caged, cage-free (barn/free-range/pastured), and organic egg layer flocks. The report and those similar note the sources as "USDA Livestock and Poultry Program, Livestock, Poultry, and Grain Market News Division," "US Census Bureau," "USDA NASS and ERS," among others. We are looking to see the specific data sources (meaning the actual documents or the data itself) used to compile this report. We are interested in seeing the data used to compile the report and other data included in the sources. We are especially looking for the data used to create the "Current Estimates of Table Egg Production and Use in States with Cage-Free Legislation" table on page 4 of the report, but all the data used to compile the report would be useful. We are interested in both the data/sources/reports used to compile this report and the methodology used to reach the final analysis.

2024-AMS-00060-F	12/04/2023	Cortez, Chelsea	The Department of Agriculture is divided into several agencies such as the Food and Nutrition Service and Agricultural Marketing Service that work together on managing and promoting the Farmer’s Markets, one of the programs offered by USDA. More than 30 farmers, ranchers, and small food businesses sell their products to local visitors in these markets. Last year, a farmers’ market was held from Friday, May 6, 2022, and ran through Friday, October 28, 2022, in Washington D.C. and it was open every Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. According to the USDA Farmers Market Rules and Operating Guidelines, market participants must submit weekly sales data and provide a total sales figure from the previous market to Market Management on Fridays before 11 a.m. Otherwise, they wouldn’t be allowed to participate. Therefore, I kindly request the Total Sales Report for each market held from May until October. That would be twenty-six reports in total. Farmer names don’t have to be revealed, numeric data and sales data are enough. Since individual sales data is kept confidential, I would only ask for a combined report if possible, indicating the total sales for each market rather than for each participant. Thank you for your cooperation.

2024-AMS-00076-F	12/22/2023	Hardin, Peter	The United States Dairy Export Council (USDEC) is a Qualified Program, which receives millions of dollars annually from the national dairy promotion check-off revenue through the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board (NDPRB). USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service oversees performance of Qualified Programs such as USDEC. I am requesting the following information involving Angelique Hollister, USDEC's vice-president for cheese exports, for the period of January 2020 through November 2023: All foreign travel expenses incurred by Ms. Hollister for her work at USDEC, including: lodging, meals, taxis. You may exclude airline travel expenses. This request follows an investigative article in the December 2023 issue of my publication regarding how Ms. Hollister's spouse – Ross Christieson – travels with Ms. Hollister and share expenses "50-50" (his phrase). In an email to me, he explained that shared expenses included lodging, meals, and taxis on a "50-50" basis. Christieson claimed that arrangement was saving USDA money. I believe Hollister and Christieson were married in 2023. A PDF copy of that article, titled "USDEC Cheese Export VP Married to GM of Firm Supplying Dairy Products Sourced from Europe," is attached to this email. However, another way of looking at that arrangement is that USDEC was subsidizing roughly half of certain travel costs on behalf of Christieson's firm, Talmera USA, Inc. That firm is a marketer of dairy products to global markets, including numerous volumes sourced from Europe. We trust that where Ms. Hollister's travel expenses submitted to USDEC would note such expenses shared with Mr. Christieson, as he stated in an email reply to me.
